Alexandra J. Wilson is a member of Pryor Cashman’s Family Law Group, where she represents high-net-worth individuals in complex matrimonial and family law matters, including divorce, prenuptial agreements, and child custody disputes.

With a transatlantic legal background and experience in both U.S. and U.K. courts, Alexandra provides clients with tailored strategies that safeguard their financial and personal interests in litigation, mediation, and arbitration.

Alexandra regularly handles the valuation and analysis of intricate asset portfolios, including real estate, businesses, and investments. She drafts high-value prenuptial and settlement agreements and litigates issues related to equitable distribution, spousal maintenance, and parenting time. Her experience as a barrister in the U.K., where she advocated in trial and appellate courts, adds a global dimension to her practice—particularly in cross-border family law cases.

Prior to joining Pryor Cashman, Alexandra practiced at a leading family law firm in New York and served as a barrister at two prominent London chambers. She also clerked at a New York firm specializing in employment and civil rights law.

Alexandra is a published author of both fiction and non-fiction, with her legal memoir, In Black and White (Hachette, 2020), and her novel, The Witness (Hachette, 2024), receiving national acclaim.
