Lexi Yob is a member of Pryor Cashman's Litigation Group.

Lexi earned her Juris Doctor from NYU School of Law, where she served as a Staff Editor for the Journal of Intellectual Property and Entertainment Law. She also held leadership positions as Social Co-Chair of Law Women and Entertainment Co-Chair of the Intellectual Property and Entertainment Law Society. While at NYU, she completed a litigation-focused externship with the NYC Law Department, supporting attorneys in municipal litigation and legal policy matters. She also participated in NYU's Mediation Clinic, where she trained in negotiation and facilitative mediation and served as a neutral in simulated and formal mediations.

Prior to joining Pryor Cashman, Lexi interned with the Legal Aid Society of San Diego, where she conducted client interviews in English and Spanish, drafted legal documents related to restraining orders and housing disputes, and maintained case files. She also held roles with the McCain Institute and the Bellevue Program for Survivors of Torture, gaining experience in legal communications, client advocacy, and human rights work.
